Reminiscences of Sambhram'19

A celebration of Ethnicity

“A creative man is motivated by the desire to achieve and not by the desire to beat others. Accept the challenge so that you can feel the exhilaration of victory.” The ecstasy, the roar of the crowd! It was not just a day of festivity, but was the beginning of the holistic growth of our institution, adhering our oath towards success. Being the humble beginners, an auspicious hallmark of this premier institution, a brand of this great stature, we were bestowed with the privilege to start something special, “Sambhram” a celebration of ethnicity. Our very own Cultural fest. A mark in the calendar, which made sure thousands of students would go on to eagerly exclaim “Oh! It’s that time of the year again” for years to come.

Why go ethnic? It’s because, Ethnicity enriches us, makes us unique in our own diversity and it was an attempt to specially honour and uphold our culture and tradition. This is in tandem with the mantra of RV group of Institution which goes, “With a rallying call which is both awaken and a benchmark, the call that will now be intrinsic to our RV brand, reflected in every thought, word and deed, across all colleges, all departments, all faculties and of course all students, the call to not only be susceptible for change, but to be the change and more importantly to GO CHANGE THE WORLD”.

We attempted a least bit of it to start with. We understood every step gets more important as the time passes by, so the organising committee along with guidance of our beloved principal Dr Jayapal Sir and able support of teacher coordinators Dr Samrat Sir and Mrs Rakshitha Ma’am took this as a challenge. An event of this dimension cannot happen overnight. The wheels start rolling much in advance. We have been fortunate enough to have a motivated and dedicated student committee and volunteers. We burned the midnight oil, and termed the days leading up to the event as a “Sacrificial Stage” which indeed was evident in our damp eyes, but we had the will to make the raging fires seem meek.

All the students and teachers were excited for this day which was highlighted on their Sambhram invitations. The much awaited day; 21st of November 2019, finally arrived. A day to remember and cherish for aeons to come. The men were shimmering in their sherwanis and dhotis, while ladies looked beautiful in their sarees. A grand stage was set up to witness a plethora of talents. Meanwhile a member of the support staff who was just passing by asked me, “How have the students prepared in this short notice?”, "Do you think we RV’itians are un-prepared for anything?" I boasted. That was the confidence we had, have and will always have amongst our peers.

It was a pleasant morning and one could feel the glee and enthusiasm in the air. We had a long list of events lined up for both teachers as well for the students. In our deepest, darkest moments, what really gets us through is a prayer, so the day eventfully started off with the Invocation song by our college choir and was followed by lighting of the lamp by our Principal and Head(s) of all the Departments. Tradition is not the worship of ashes, but the preservation of fire. We practise the age old custom of lighting the lamp before any celebrations because old ways are the surest and the safest, and only light can drive out darkness. Our Principal addressed the gathering and encouraged all the participants with his experienced words and formally declared Sambhram'19 Open!

Our college band started things off in style with melody and melancholy. What followed was a group song from teachers and students. Next up was Fashion show, what can I say about that? It was a show stopper! Which eventually crowned Mr and Ms Sambhram 2k19. Then came the marquee event, which we all were waiting for with bated breaths, MAD ADS. All the sections tried their level best to modulate their voices and promote their products, but guess what stood out? Our Shakeela's Tequila! The C section put up a hilarious advertisement which left the audience in splits. The organising committee had a thought, what could make our friends laugh? Then we came up with the idea of KIRIK PARTY feat RVIT staff, which thoroughly entertained the crowd. We had our friends coming up with dance performances to make the crowd go frenzy, because dance is the poetic bearing of soul through emotions and it is one of the most divine art forms, which marked the end of an amusing, entertaining and delightful day.

The events marked the beginning of the glory and spirit of our college, 'Thou shalt reap what you sow' was the proverb that came to my mind at the end of the day, and we all finally felt like the shackles were broken and we had finally arrived, maybe in the most fitting way. A day well spent, a day which would be cherished forever!

Cheers! Until next time;
